Master of Science in Applied Technology & Performance Improvement

Master of Science

The Master of Science with a major in Applied Technology & Performance Improvement is a 36-hour program. This is the recommended degree for those seeking careers in the field of training and development.

Required for Major

- ATTD 5160: Advanced Computer Applications in Education and training
- ATTD 5010: Designing Technical Training Programs
- ATTD 5100: Introduction to Training and Development
- ATTD 5440: Facilitation Strategies in ATTD
- ATTD 5480: Research Techniques (prereq.: EPSY 5210)
- ATTD 5490: Diversity Issues in ATTD
- ATTD 5500: Research Seminar in ATTD
- ATTD 6450: Needs Analysis in ATTD
- ATTD 5720: Evaluation Seminar
- ATTD 6470: Evaluation and Accountability in ATTD
- EPSY 5210: Educational Statistics

Plus

3 semester hours of ATTD elective courses determined in consultation with the advisor.

Additional Requirements

Two years of approved training experience or 6 hours of an internship (ATTD 6030) as well as ATTD 5100, ATTD 5121 and ATTD 5500 as leveling courses (in addition to minimum degree requirements) are required.

Interesting Fact

The career fields for individuals who seek employment in applied technology or training and development are rapidly expanding. The expansion of opportunities, due to fundamental restructuring in both the private and public sectors of employment, is key to a global marketplace in which the current workforce must develop new skills.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Admission</th>
<th>Applicants must meet all requirements for admission to the Graduate School and the program in Applied Technology &amp; Performance Improvement.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>GRE</td>
<td>A satisfactory verbal and quantitative score on the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) is required for admission to this degree program. Students may enroll for one semester without an approved score.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Undergraduate Degree</td>
<td>Students with any undergraduate degree may pursue this degree.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mission</td>
<td>The mission of the Learning Technologies Department is to establish a learning community of professionals who are committed to high standards of people and organizational development through effective education and training of the world's workforce.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Evaluation seminar (ATTD 5720)</td>
<td>The Graduate School requires that degree candidates in non-thesis programs successfully complete an exit seminar during the last semester of enrollment.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Availability of Courses</td>
<td>Courses are offered one night/week (5:30-8:30 pm), on selected evenings identified by the instructor, or via internet.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Availability of corporate training certificates</td>
<td>Basic and advanced Corporate Training Certificates are also available. Please contact department office for details.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>For additional Information</td>
<td>www.lt.unt.edu. Click on Degree Programs. Click on Masters. Download Masters Degree Admissions.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Dr. Michelle Wircenski
Masters Advisor
3940 N. Elm, G150
Denton, TX 76207-7102
Mickey.Wircenski@unt.edu
(940) 369-7704